"When blooming youth is snatched away,
By deaths relentless hand,
Our hearts the mournful tribute pay,
Which pity must demand.
While pity prompts the rising sigh,
O may this truth impress
With awful power I too must die,
Sink deep in every breast.
The voice of this alarming scene,
Let every heart obey
Nor be the heavenly warning vain,
Which calls to watch and pray."

DIED: On Thursday last, Doctor Isaiah Blair, of this town. He has left to deplore his loss, a widow and eight children. As a friend he was warm and unalienable, as a neighbor kind and benevolent, and in his profession, respected and eminent.

One of Dr. Blair's sons, Dr. Alexander Blair, was a surgeon in the U. S. Army during the War of 1812. He resigned and returned to Washington in 1815 and practiced medicine here until his death May 26, 1830. He married Louise, daughter of David Morris, and their daughter, Miss Bird Blair, became the wife of William Thaw, the Pittsburgh millionaire philanthropist.
